

ABSTRACT

[0026] Footwear is constructed of an upper and an outsole having a water barrier wall, which extends upwards from the lower edge of the upper and overlaps a bottom portion of the later, wherein the upper and outsole are stitched so that the overlapped water barrier wall and the bottom portion of the upper are not pierced.